

Take, Lord, and receive all my liberty

Take, Lord, and receive
all my liberty, my memory, my understanding,
and all my will, all that I have and possess.
Thou hast given them to me;
to thee, o Lord, I restore them;
all things are thine, dispose of them according to thy will.
Give me thy love and thy grace, for this is enough for me.

Ignatius Loyola (1491-1556)
